

1988-1989

AWRC moved to Kirk Place on Main Street in January, 1989-now wheelchair-accessible

In Antigonish

Candidates debate women's issues

From The Evening News

ANTIGONISH — A primary's advance group has invited election candidates from the three main political parties to an open house on women's issues, but the debate structure of the event is drawing fire from the Antigonish Progressive Conservative Association.

The Antigonish Women's Association, which invited Liberal, Progressive Conservative and New Democratic candidates Bill Gault, Bill Macdonald and Bill Macdonald to the event, is planning to hold the event on Tuesday at the Antigonish Community Centre.

But he is willing to meet with members of the association as he is director of group issues, a matter he feels will allow them to better understand the issues and give him more on any issues.

The privilege of the candidates to accept or reject their candidates as they see fit, and the terms will go on regardless of the outcome.

Ms. Harper said the event is open to all women and men, and she would be happy to meet with members of the association as she is director of group issues, a matter he feels will allow them to better understand the issues and give him more on any issues.

Ms. Harper said the event is open to all women and men, and she would be happy to meet with members of the association as she is director of group issues, a matter he feels will allow them to better understand the issues and give him more on any issues.

Ms. Harper said the event is open to all women and men, and she would be happy to meet with members of the association as she is director of group issues, a matter he feels will allow them to better understand the issues and give him more on any issues.

Pornography Talk Draws Wide Interest

By Patricia Macleod

There's a fine line between pornography and erotica in these days of the Internet, and the Antigonish Women's Association is trying to draw a line between the two. The association is holding a series of workshops on pornography, and the first one was held on Tuesday night.

Participants viewed a movie entitled "Who Says a Woman's Heart?" which explored pornography from a feminist perspective. The movie also looked at the connection between pornography and advertising, and how it affects women's self-image.

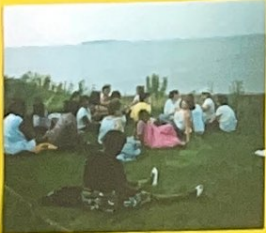

Candidates Respond To AWA Survey

By Patricia Macleod

A recent survey conducted by the Antigonish Women's Association asked candidates to respond to a survey on women's issues. The survey was distributed to all candidates running for the Antigonish District School Board.

The survey was distributed to all candidates running for the Antigonish District School Board. The survey was distributed to all candidates running for the Antigonish District School Board.

Celebrated Women Vote Day by talking with women on the street in order to encourage them to vote

NATURALLY was Women Vote Day across Canada, and members of the Antigonish Women's Association (left) and Brenda Austin-Smith and Kirby Newman (right) spent the day discussing issues with women in the community.

Women's Support Group held every Wednesday

Fight Sexual Harassment Day was recognized with a Casket article written on behalf of the AWA, and information and buttons distributed to women in the community

The Sr. Mary MacLeod Bursary was established

AWRC/AWA BOARD OF DIRECTORS: 1988-1989
Eileen Cary
Yael Gluck
Barbara Hayes
Carol Kell
Donna MacDonald
Heather Scott

STAFF
Lucille Harper
Kathleen Reed

WAC mid-year conference and annual general assembly

International Women's Day commemorated with free coffee given to women from certain restaurants

Women's Rights Advocate To Address AWA

By Dawn Cuthie

The Antigonish Women's Association will be holding its annual general meeting on Friday, September 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Hall.

MARY CLANCY

The AWA general will be an opportunity for members to meet and hear from a guest speaker, Mary Clancy, who will be addressing the issue of sexual harassment.

Mrs. Clancy is a former teacher and is currently a social worker. She will be speaking about her experiences with sexual harassment and how to deal with it.

1988-1989

AWRC moved to Kirk Place on Main Street in January, 1989-now wheelchair-accessible

In Antigonish

Candidates debate women's issues

From the Evening News
ANTIGONISH—A women's advocacy group has invited election candidates from the three main political parties to an open forum on women's issues, but the debate has been postponed because of the weather. The Antigonish Women's Association has invited Liberal, Progressive Conservative and New Democratic Party candidates to a forum on women's issues. The forum was scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Women's Centre on Main Street. The women's association has invited candidates from the three main political parties to an open forum on women's issues. The forum was scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Women's Centre on Main Street. The women's association has invited candidates from the three main political parties to an open forum on women's issues. The forum was scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Women's Centre on Main Street.

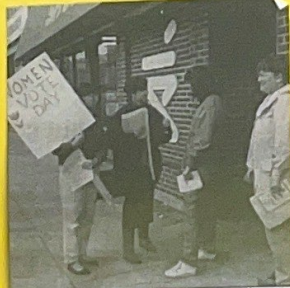

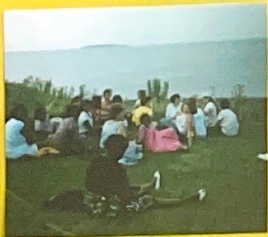

Candidates Respond To AWA Survey

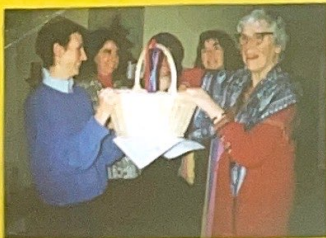

by Patricia Macleod
A recent survey conducted by the Antigonish Women's Association has shown that women are interested in candidates for the Antigonish District School Board in the upcoming October 15 municipal election. The survey was conducted by the Antigonish Women's Association and the results were published in the Antigonish Evening News. The survey found that women are interested in candidates for the Antigonish District School Board in the upcoming October 15 municipal election. The survey was conducted by the Antigonish Women's Association and the results were published in the Antigonish Evening News.

Celebrated Women Vote Day by talking with women on the street in order to encourage them to vote

SATURDAY was Women Vote Day across Canada, and members of the Antigonish Women's Association (left) and the Antigonish District School Board (right) spent the day discussing issues with women in the community.

The Sr. Mary MacLeod Bursary was established

AWRC/AWA BOARD OF DIRECTORS: 1988-1989
Ellen Cary
Yael Gluck
Barbara Hayes
Carol Keil
Donna MacDonald
Heather Scott
Dorothy Gilson
Elizabeth Hagell
Janey Humphreys
Jesse Kennedy
Nasha Murphy
Rieky Stuart

STAFF
Lucille Harper
Katherine Reed

International Women's Day commemorated with free coffee given to women from certain restaurants

Fight Sexual Harassment Day was recognized with a Casket article written on behalf of the AWA, and information and buttons distributed to women in the community

WAC mid-year conference and annual general assembly

Pornography Talk Draws Wide Interest

by Patricia Macleod
There's a thin line between pornography and erotica, and it's a line that many people are trying to draw. The Antigonish Women's Association has organized a series of workshops on pornography and erotica. The workshops are designed to help women understand the difference between pornography and erotica, and to help them make choices about what they see and read. The workshops are designed to help women understand the difference between pornography and erotica, and to help them make choices about what they see and read.

Women's Support Group held every Wednesday

Women's Rights Advocate To Address AWA

by Dawn Curtis

The Antigonish Women's Association will be holding its annual general meeting on Friday, September 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Hall. The meeting will be held in the Town Hall. The meeting will be held in the Town Hall.

MARY CLANCY

The AWA general will be an opportunity for members to vote on the new constitution and to elect new officers. The meeting will be held in the Town Hall. The meeting will be held in the Town Hall.

Ms. Clancy is actively involved with women's issues personally, professionally and politically. She will be speaking at the Antigonish Women's Association meeting on Friday, September 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Hall. She will be speaking at the Antigonish Women's Association meeting on Friday, September 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Hall.