

Women Supporting Women Program offers caring environment

By Heather MacLean
Any woman looking for a safe place to turn to for support and advice in dealing with everyday stress and emotional issues has found it here.

The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre offers a caring environment where women can share their experiences, learn from each other and receive support from a caring staff.

At the centre, women can find a safe place to turn to for support and advice in dealing with everyday stress and emotional issues. The centre offers a caring environment where women can share their experiences, learn from each other and receive support from a caring staff.

At the centre, women can find a safe place to turn to for support and advice in dealing with everyday stress and emotional issues. The centre offers a caring environment where women can share their experiences, learn from each other and receive support from a caring staff.

Women Supporting Women

The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre is offering a Support Group for women on Wednesday mornings. It's a great place for women to make new friends, laugh, talk and share experiences.

Wednesdays 9:30 - 11:00 a.m.
Starting October 18
219 Main Street - Suite 204 (Kirk Bldg.)
For more information or to register call
863-6221

2006-2007

Outreach for Rural Women program offerer

By Heather MacLean
A new program is being offered through the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre to help rural women in the Antigonish region.

The program is designed to help rural women in the Antigonish region. It is a new program being offered through the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre.

The program is designed to help rural women in the Antigonish region. It is a new program being offered through the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre.

Local agency concerned about government cuts

By Heather MacLean
Local women's rights groups and organizations are concerned about the impact of government cuts on the women's sector.

The groups are concerned about the impact of government cuts on the women's sector. They are worried about the loss of funding for various programs and services.

The groups are concerned about the impact of government cuts on the women's sector. They are worried about the loss of funding for various programs and services.

TALKING TO YOUR TEENS

A Four-Part Series

Thursdays from 7:00 - 8:00 pm

Bookings and cancellations: 863-6221

For more information or to register, drop in or call 863-6221

Helping single mothers, low income students tackle education barriers

By Heather MacLean
Helping single mothers and low income students tackle education barriers is the goal of a new program offered by the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre.

The program is designed to help single mothers and low income students tackle education barriers. It is a new program offered by the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre.

The program is designed to help single mothers and low income students tackle education barriers. It is a new program offered by the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre.

Members of the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre are participating in a new education approach to dealing with education barriers. The group has formed a committee to help single mothers and low income students tackle education barriers.

Focusing on local poverty

By Heather MacLean
Antigonish-based organizations are focusing on local poverty and the needs of the community.

The organizations are focusing on local poverty and the needs of the community. They are working together to address the issues of poverty and provide support to those in need.

The organizations are focusing on local poverty and the needs of the community. They are working together to address the issues of poverty and provide support to those in need.

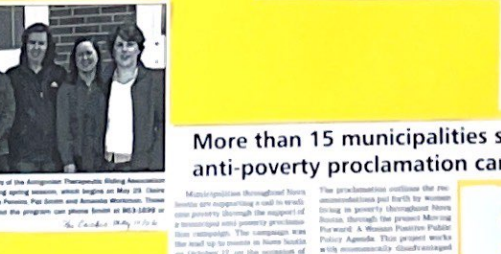

Members of the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre are participating in a new education approach to dealing with education barriers. The group has formed a committee to help single mothers and low income students tackle education barriers.

International Women's Day celebrates life

By Heather MacLean
International Women's Day is celebrated in Antigonish, Nova Scotia, on March 8th.

The day is celebrated in Antigonish, Nova Scotia, on March 8th. It is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to raise awareness of the issues they face.

The day is celebrated in Antigonish, Nova Scotia, on March 8th. It is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to raise awareness of the issues they face.

Members of the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre are participating in a new education approach to dealing with education barriers. The group has formed a committee to help single mothers and low income students tackle education barriers.

Status of Women office closure puts programs at risk

By Heather MacLean
The closure of the Status of Women office in Antigonish is putting various programs at risk.

The closure of the Status of Women office is putting various programs at risk. It is a concern for the community as many services will be lost.

The closure of the Status of Women office is putting various programs at risk. It is a concern for the community as many services will be lost.

More than 15 municipalities support anti-poverty proclamation campaign

By Heather MacLean
More than 15 municipalities in the Antigonish region support the anti-poverty proclamation campaign.

The municipalities support the anti-poverty proclamation campaign. They are working together to address the issues of poverty and provide support to those in need.

The municipalities support the anti-poverty proclamation campaign. They are working together to address the issues of poverty and provide support to those in need.

Poverty project takes a hit

By Heather MacLean
The poverty project in Antigonish is facing challenges due to government cuts.

The poverty project is facing challenges due to government cuts. It is a concern for the community as many services will be lost.

The poverty project is facing challenges due to government cuts. It is a concern for the community as many services will be lost.

Teens taking action

By Heather MacLean
Teens in Antigonish are taking action to address social issues.

The teens are taking action to address social issues. They are working together to raise awareness and provide support to those in need.

The teens are taking action to address social issues. They are working together to raise awareness and provide support to those in need.

Funding announced for SANE training program

By Heather MacLean
Funding has been announced for the SANE training program in Antigonish.

The funding has been announced for the SANE training program. It is a positive development for the community as it will provide training for various professionals.

The funding has been announced for the SANE training program. It is a positive development for the community as it will provide training for various professionals.

Shoppers helps Lindsay's Centre

By Heather MacLean
Shoppers at Lindsay's Centre are helping to support various programs.

The shoppers are helping to support various programs. They are working together to raise awareness and provide support to those in need.

The shoppers are helping to support various programs. They are working together to raise awareness and provide support to those in need.

AWRC/AWA BOARD OF DIRECTORS: 2006-2007

- | | |
|--|--|
| Elisa Arbutnot
Nelda Armour
Laurie Baird
Daniela Davidson
Susan Eaton
Nancy Forrester | Betty MacDonald
Peggy Mahon
Clare Mulcahy
Maureen Shebis
Verle Wile |
|--|--|
- STAFF
- | | |
|--|---------------------------------------|
| Lucille Harper
Kristine Hanlon
Isabelle Gillis
Katherine Reed
Jean Crosby
Jackie Jacques
Krista DeCoste
Amanda Workman
Rene Ryan
Regina Mulcahy
Theresa Bottom
Theresa Turay
Jennifer (Hines) Styken
Maria Barlow | Vangie Babin
Sharon Beavan |
|--|---------------------------------------|
- (Face to Face)
(Rural Youth Healthy Relationships Project)
(Rural Youth Healthy Relationships Project)
(Rural Youth Healthy Relationships Project)
(Overcoming Resistance Project)
(Moving Forward Project)
(Outreach)
(Summer Student)
(Summer Student)
(Office Support)
(SANE Project Coordinator)

Women Supporting Women

Program offers caring environment

By Heather MacAdam
Any woman looking for a supportive environment to discuss her life, her needs and her dreams, look no further than the Women Supporting Women program.

The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre offers a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams. The program is a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The program is a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams. The program is a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Women Supporting Women

The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre is offering a Support Group for women on Wednesday mornings. It's a great place for women to make new friends, laugh, talk and share experiences.

Wednesdays 9:30 - 11:00 a.m.
Starting October 18
219 Main Street - Suite 204 (Kirk Bldg.)
For more information or to register call: 863-6221

2006-2007

Outreach for Rural Women program offered

By Heather MacAdam
A new program being offered through the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre aims to help women in the Cape Breton region to deal with issues of isolation and loneliness.

The program is a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams. The program is a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

TALKING TO YOUR TEENS

A Four-Part Series
Thursdays from 7:00 - 9:00 pm

Topic	Date
Emotion and Identity	Nov 16
Sex and Sexuality	Nov 23
Relationships (Addition/Removal)	Dec 1
Relationships	Dec 8

Presented by: Public Health, Antigonish Women's Resource Centre and Women's Resource Centre

For more information or to register, drop in or call 863-6221

Local agency concerned about government cuts

By Heather MacAdam
Local women's rights groups are concerned about the impact of government cuts on the services they provide.

The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre is a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams. The program is a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Helping single mothers, low income students tackle education barriers

By Heather MacAdam
Helping single mothers and low income students overcome barriers to post-secondary education was the goal of a public forum held in Antigonish last week.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Members of the Women's Resource Centre are committed to providing support and resources for women in the community.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Teens taking action

Teens, parents and community members are invited to attend a presentation by the Youth Take Action group.

The presentation will be held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Local agency concerned about government cuts

By Heather MacAdam
Local women's rights groups are concerned about the impact of government cuts on the services they provide.

The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre is a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams. The program is a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Focusing on local poverty

By Heather MacAdam
Antigonish marked International Day for Eradication of Poverty last week with a focus on local poverty.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Members of the Women's Resource Centre are committed to providing support and resources for women in the community.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

International Women's Day celebrates life

By Heather MacAdam
International Women's Day is celebrated every year on March 8th. It is a day to celebrate the achievements of women and to demand equality.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Funding announced for SANE training program

By Heather MacAdam
The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre has been awarded funding for a SANE training program.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Status of Women office closure puts programs at risk

By Heather MacAdam
The closure of the Status of Women office in Antigonish puts various programs at risk.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Members of the Women's Resource Centre are committed to providing support and resources for women in the community.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

More than 15 municipalities support anti-poverty proclamation campaign

By Heather MacAdam
More than 15 municipalities in the Antigonish region have signed a proclamation supporting the anti-poverty campaign.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Shoppers helps Lindsay's Centre

By Heather MacAdam
Shoppers at Lindsay's Centre have helped to raise funds for various programs.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Poverty project takes a hit

By Heather MacAdam
The poverty project has faced significant challenges due to funding cuts and other factors.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Members of the Women's Resource Centre are committed to providing support and resources for women in the community.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

The forum was held at the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre. It was a caring environment for women to discuss their lives, their needs and their dreams.

Program offers caring environment

by Heather MacAdam
Any woman looking for a supportive environment to discuss her concerns and receive information, look no further than the Anglican Women's Resource Centre.

The Anglican Women's Resource Centre offers a caring environment for women to discuss their concerns and receive information. The centre is located at 219 Main Street, Suite 204 (Kirk Bldg.) and is open to all women.

The centre provides a safe space for women to share their experiences and receive support. The staff are trained to provide confidential and non-judgmental assistance.

Women are encouraged to bring their concerns to the centre and receive the support they need. The centre is a place where women can find comfort and understanding.

Outreach for Rural Women program offered

by Heather MacAdam
A new program being offered through the Anglican Women's Resource Centre aims to help women in rural areas.

The program is designed to provide support and information to women in rural areas. It includes a variety of services and resources.

Women in rural areas often face unique challenges. The program aims to address these challenges and provide the support needed.

The program is a valuable resource for women in rural areas. It provides a place where women can find support and information.

Local agency concerned about government cuts

by Heather MacAdam
Local women's rights groups and advocates are concerned about the impact of government cuts on the Anglican Women's Resource Centre.

The groups are worried that government cuts will reduce the services provided by the centre. This could have a significant impact on the women who rely on the centre.

The groups are calling for government to maintain its commitment to the centre. They believe that the centre is a vital resource for women in the community.

The groups are also working to raise awareness about the importance of the centre. They want to ensure that the community knows about the services provided by the centre.

Women Supporting Women

The Anglican Women's Resource Centre is offering a Support Group for women on Wednesday mornings.

It's a great place for women to make new friends, laugh, talk and share experiences.

Wednesdays 9:30 - 11:00 a.m.
Starting October 18
219 Main Street - Suite 204 (Kirk Bldg.)
For more information or to register call 863-6221

Helping single mothers, low income students tackle education barriers

by Heather MacAdam
Helping single mothers and low income students overcome barriers to post-secondary education is the goal of a new program being offered by the Anglican Women's Resource Centre.

The program is designed to provide support and information to single mothers and low income students. It includes a variety of services and resources.

Single mothers and low income students often face significant barriers to post-secondary education. The program aims to address these barriers and provide the support needed.

The program is a valuable resource for single mothers and low income students. It provides a place where they can find support and information.

Teens taking action

by Heather MacAdam
Teens are taking action to raise awareness about violence and sexual assault.

The teens are working to educate the community about these issues. They are using a variety of methods to reach their goal.

Violence and sexual assault are serious issues. The teens are doing their best to raise awareness about these issues.

The teens are a source of inspiration. They are showing that young people can make a difference in their community.

Teens taking action

by Heather MacAdam
Teens are taking action to raise awareness about violence and sexual assault.

The teens are working to educate the community about these issues. They are using a variety of methods to reach their goal.

Violence and sexual assault are serious issues. The teens are doing their best to raise awareness about these issues.

The teens are a source of inspiration. They are showing that young people can make a difference in their community.

Focusing on local poverty

by Heather MacAdam
The Anglican Women's Resource Centre is focusing on local poverty.

The centre is working to address the needs of people living in poverty in the local community. It is providing a variety of services and resources.

Local poverty is a significant issue. The centre is doing its best to address this issue and provide support to those in need.

The centre is a valuable resource for people living in poverty. It provides a place where they can find support and information.

International Women's Day celebrates life

by Heather MacAdam
The Anglican Women's Resource Centre is celebrating International Women's Day.

The centre is holding a variety of events to celebrate the day. These events are designed to honor the achievements of women and raise awareness about their issues.

International Women's Day is a day to celebrate the life and achievements of women. The centre is doing its best to make this day special.

The centre is a source of pride for the community. It is a place where women can find support and information.

Funding announced for SANE training program

by Heather MacAdam
Funding has been announced for a SANE training program.

The program is designed to provide training for Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners (SANEs). This training is essential for providing support to victims of sexual assault.

The funding is a significant step towards improving the services provided by SANEs. It will help to ensure that victims receive the support they need.

The program is a valuable resource for the community. It provides a place where SANEs can receive the training they need.

Status of Women office closure puts programs at risk

by Heather MacAdam
The closure of the Status of Women office puts programs at risk.

The office has been a valuable resource for the community. Its closure will have a significant impact on the services provided.

The programs at risk include a variety of services and resources. These programs are essential for providing support to the community.

The community is worried about the closure of the office. They are calling for government to maintain its commitment to these programs.

More than 15 municipalities support anti-poverty proclamation campaign

by Heather MacAdam
More than 15 municipalities support the anti-poverty proclamation campaign.

The campaign is designed to raise awareness about poverty and provide support to those in need. It is a community effort to address this issue.

The municipalities are showing their commitment to the campaign. They are providing a variety of services and resources to support the campaign.

The campaign is a valuable resource for the community. It provides a place where people can find support and information.

Shoppers helps Lindsay's Centre

by Heather MacAdam
Shoppers are helping Lindsay's Centre.

The centre is a valuable resource for the community. It provides a place where people can find support and information.

Shoppers are showing their support for the centre. They are providing a variety of services and resources to support the centre.

The centre is a source of pride for the community. It is a place where people can find support and information.

Status of Women office closure puts programs at risk

by Heather MacAdam
The closure of the Status of Women office puts programs at risk.

The office has been a valuable resource for the community. Its closure will have a significant impact on the services provided.

The programs at risk include a variety of services and resources. These programs are essential for providing support to the community.

The community is worried about the closure of the office. They are calling for government to maintain its commitment to these programs.

Provinces

by Heather MacAdam
The provinces are working to address poverty.

The provinces are providing a variety of services and resources to support the fight against poverty. They are working to ensure that everyone has access to the support they need.

Poverty is a significant issue. The provinces are doing their best to address this issue and provide support to those in need.

The provinces are a source of pride for the community. They are a place where people can find support and information.

Shoppers helps Lindsay's Centre

by Heather MacAdam
Shoppers are helping Lindsay's Centre.

The centre is a valuable resource for the community. It provides a place where people can find support and information.

Shoppers are showing their support for the centre. They are providing a variety of services and resources to support the centre.

The centre is a source of pride for the community. It is a place where people can find support and information.

Women Supporting Women Program offers caring environment

By Heather Macdonald
Any woman lacking for a support environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further.

The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre offers a caring environment for women to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

Women Supporting Women

The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre is offering a Support Group for women on Wednesday mornings.

It's a great place for women to make new friends, laugh, talk and share experiences.

Wednesdays 9:30 - 11:00 a.m.
Starting October 18
219 Main Street - Suite 204 (Kirk Bldg.)
For more information or to register call
863-6221

2006-2007 Outreach for Rural Women program offered

By Heather Macdonald
A new program being offered through the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre aims to help women in the Antigonish region.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

Local agency concerned about government cuts

By Heather Macdonald
Local women's rights groups are concerned about government cuts to social services.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

Helping single mothers, low income students tackle education barriers

By Heather Macdonald
Helping single mothers and low income students overcome barriers to post-secondary education is the goal of a public forum held in Antigonish last week.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

Teens taking action

Teens parents and community members are invited to a presentation by Teens Take Action, a peer education approach to prevent dating violence and sexual assault.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

Focusing on local poverty

By Brendan Decker
Antigonish-based International Day to Eradicate Poverty will focus on local poverty.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

International Women's Day celebrates life

By Heather Macdonald
International Women's Day celebrates the lives of women and their contributions to society.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

AWRC cheque presentation

Lucille Harper (left), executive director of the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre, presents a cheque to the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

Funding announced for SANE training program

By Brian Decker
The province has announced funding for a SANE training program.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

Status of Women office closure puts programs at risk

By Kevin Young
The closure of the Status of Women office in Antigonish puts programs at risk.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

More than 15 municipalities support anti-poverty proclamation campaign

Municipalities throughout Nova Scotia are supporting a proclamation campaign to raise awareness of poverty.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

Shoppers helps Lindsay's Centre

Shoppers Drug Mart, Antigonish, and its employees, recently made a $1,400 donation to the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre's Lindsay's Centre.

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

"We're not just a place where women come to talk, we're a place where they can find a caring environment to discuss their everyday stress and concerns, look no further."

Poverty project takes a hit

Province
Facts regarding struggles of women living in Canada
Betsy MacDonald
Donna MacDonald
Clegg Mahon
Peggy Mahon
Claire Mahon
Maureen Shebb
Verlie Ve

Roby	(Rural Youth Healthy Relationships Project)
Jacques	(Rural Youth Healthy Relationships Project)
DeCoste	(Rural Youth Healthy Relationships Project)
Maynard	(Rural Youth Healthy Relationships Project)
Rudya Workman	(Overcoming Resistance Project)
Ross	(Moving Forward Project)
an Mulcahy	(Outreach)
Balteen	(Summer Student)
sa Turay	(Summer Student)
ler (Hines) Styrien	(Office Support)
Barton	(SANE Project Coordinator)