Youth program receives funding

By Heather MacIsaac
The Antigonish Women's Resource Centre (AWRC) is pleased to announce that it has received funding from the Department of Social Services to support its youth program. The funding will be used to support the program's activities and to provide support for the youth who participate in the program.

The youth program is a voluntary program that provides support and resources for young women who are experiencing difficulties. The program is open to young women who are between the ages of 15 and 19 and who are residents of Antigonish. The program provides support in a variety of areas, including emotional support, information, and referrals to other services.

The youth program is a key part of the AWRC's commitment to providing support and resources for women and girls in the community. The funding will help the AWRC to continue to provide this important service to the community.
