A group of citizens intends building Antigeeh, a sustainable community sustaining their work habits, working on Earth Day.

The aim of the Community Engagement Network is to create a vibrant, imaginative and healthy community, inspired by Vision 2000 and County's Integrated Community Development (ICSD).

Emphasis is on the ICSD pillars of sustainable agriculture, economic vitality, environmental stewardship, and social justice.

Frank Gallant, Antigeeh Executive Director, said the April 22 meeting was a success.

For more information, contact Frank Gallant at 708-398-1100 or frank@antigeeh.org.

Youth program benefiting schools

By Heather MacAdam
The Youth Program has been a success story for the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre (AWRC) and the schools it serves. The program, which has been running for several years, provides a safe and supportive environment for young women to learn, grow, and develop their skills. The program is funded by the Antigonish Women's Resource Centre and the Antigonish Regional Council. The program is open to all young women in the Antigonish area who are between the ages of 15 and 19. The program is run by a dedicated staff of volunteers and is supported by a network of community organizations. The program has been a great success story for the AWRC and the schools it serves. The program has helped many young women to gain the skills and confidence they need to succeed in life. The program has also helped to build a strong sense of community among the young women who participate in it. The program is a testament to the power of community support and the importance of providing opportunities for young women to learn and grow.
